Four Point Plan

The St. Albert town council met on Oct. 30.

Those present were: Mayor Fowler, Councillors Bakker, Bull, Wheatley, Gibbon and de Bruijn, secretary-treasurer, J. M. Fleming, S. L. Billings, assistant secretary-treasurer J. Maandag, town engineer, A. R. Gate, superintendent of parks and recreation department, J. X. Woodroffe, Edmonton regional planning commission and Mrs. J. Mustaklem, recording secretary.

Mr. Wheatley stated that he wished to mention four points which in his opinion are connected and a plan of action should be devised to deal with all four.

The question of hearings on amalgamation by the town. The question of the study on the Calgary Power franchise.

The question of whether the town should retain a consultant with respect to its future in view of amalgamation.

Possible annexation hearings by the LAB.

He stated that of these four the question of the Calgary Power franchise should be resolved first.

The town is to receive a progress report from Vinto

Engineering regarding the power study as soon as possible.

He also asked if there was anything that could be done about the school buses which are allowed to operate without having a muffler. Mr. de Bruijn advised that council had already explored this matter previously and as this is controlled by provincial legislature the town has no control over this problem.

Mr. Bull stated that he wished to bring up the matter of the Central Area Plan and the lack of paving thereof. He stated that the plan was 11 years old and so far no paving had occurred and in his opinion the mall (as planned) should be paved as a street and would therefore be easier to enclose should the opportunity arise. Mr. Maandag stated that the underground surface should be updated before any surface development was carried out. Mayor Fowler pointed out that council is bound to the urban renewal scheme and that all suggestions should be considered by the public works committee and then referred to council. This will be done.

Are the schools favouring the girl students? "Yes", said guest speaker Dr. John W. Chalmers, superintendent of schools. Dr. Chalmers in a humorous talk which was much giggled at by the boys and girls, urged the teachers to "give the boys a break". Teachers, said Dr. Chalmers, tend to favour "submissive, gentle, polite, clean students in other words, girls". The boys, because they are "noisy, aggressive and sometimes dirty", don't do as well in school. Dr. Chalmers said. He added he hopes to see more scholastic awards given to boys in future years.

Votes of appreciation were given by Shirley Letts and Bill Clark.

Adult Education at Separate School

At the regular meeting of the St. Albert Separate School Board held on Oct. 12, Dr. Chalmers, superintendent advised the board that although the district advertised that night school would be available in the district the response was very poor. He mentioned that four applications were received for a beginners shorthand course, five applications for a mathematic 30 course, and five applications for the typing course. He pointed out that these numbers were very small and would mean that the program, if operated would have to run at a loss.

It was suggested that Dr. Chalmers prepare a circular letter regarding adult education and that these letters be given to all students within the system. It was also suggested that the public school system be contacted in this regard to see if they would also be prepared to distribute a letter. It was agreed that a committee to study adult education would be appointed at the next regular meeting.

Those present were: R. Harvey, chairman; Dr. W. D. Cuts, Messrs. R. Russell, C. Schroder, Dr. J. W. Chalmers, superintendent; E. Murray, secretary treasurer; four members of the public.

The committee's action regarding non-teaching salaries as detailed at the meeting of Oct. 5 was approved.

The secretary treasurer advised the board of a conference sponsored by the Alberta Teachers' Association on education finance to be held at the Banff School of Fine Arts from Nov. 19 to 23. This was deferred until after the forthcoming election.

The board will borrow from the Bank of Nova Scotia the sum of $23,275, repayable in five equal annual instalments of $4,655, together with interest at the rate of 6 & 1/2 per cent per annum, to cover the cost of replacing the Paul Kane High School roof and the purchase of 20 calculators for the Paul Kane High School.

Progress Claim No. 4 in the amount of $96,144.35 will be paid to W. J. Bennett for work done on the Sir George Simpson Junior High School addition.

Mrs. B. Rhoad was given a temporary contract for the period Oct. 10, to June 30, 1968.

Staff transfers within the district were approved.

Mrs. Linda Andrews was given a temporary contract for the period of Sept. 5 to Dec. 22.

The superintendent advised the board of the need to adjust the hours at the Leo Nickerson Elementary School in order to enable the bus driver from the Sturgeon School Division to pick up the Sturgeon students at 3:55 p.m. and convey them to the Sir Alexander Mackenzie school for distribution, to the other buses operated by the Sturgeon Division. New hours are 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:25 p.m. to 3:55 p.m.

Dr. Chalmers referred to a letter received from the provincial department of education informing him that a commemorative medal has been struck and will be distributed this year to Canadians who have rendered valuable service to Canada.

He mentioned that this district is entitled to make one nomination for the centennial medal from among the teachers, supervisors, or school administrators.

Dr. Cuts was appointed as the board's representative to a nominating committee for the Canadian centennial medal award.

Mr. Schroder suggested that the committee should consider asking for students opinions as well as staff opinions.

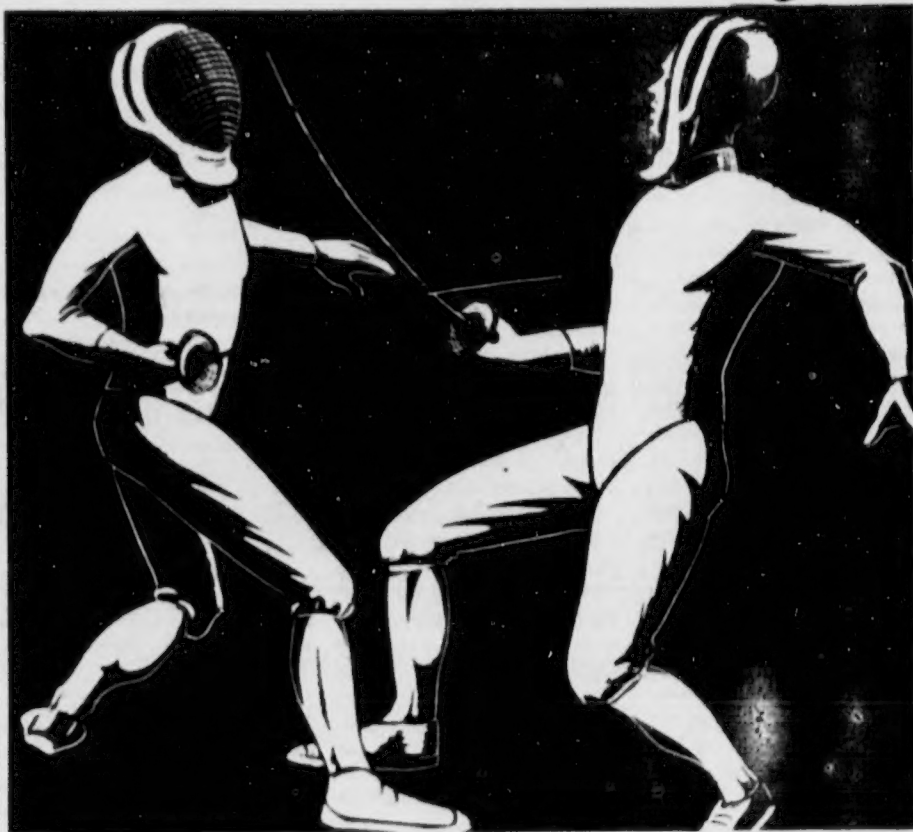

The superintendent recommended that J. Bauman, vice-principal, Paul Kane High School, be authorized to attend the industrial arts conference to be held in Edmonton during the second half of October. This was approved.

Dr. Chalmers also referred to a request received from W. D. Thomas, supervisor of guidance, for his attendance at the conference of the council for exceptional children to be held in Regina from Nov. 1 to 4. This was approved and his expenses should be paid.

The superintendent advised the board that he discussed the matter of dress regulations and noon-hour supervision with the administrators' council. He mentioned that the administrators thought that it would be feasible to provide noon hour supervision for those students who were required to stay for lunch. He requested that the board arrange for a meeting with the council to discuss dress regulations, awards, and entrance age for grade 1 students. The board agreed to meet with the

the Gazette REFLECTS

Doug Caston, Businessman A good choice by voters

The election of Doug Caston in Monday's by-election for the federal riding of Jasper-Edson has put a small businessman in the House of Commons. This type of M.P. is all too rare and we congratulate the voters on their choice and wish Mr. Caston well.

Liberal Allan Sulatycky made only a fair showing, polling just over half of the votes given to Mr. Caston, and again the N.D.P. candidate lagged far behind.

We do ourselves a disservice in persistently nominating a large proportion of lawyers to contest political offices. Lawyers are intensively trained in looking back, researching precedents - and they are also trained to a concern for detail and small print. To balance such thinking we need also men trained in the business world to look ahead - and to see the forest instead of the trees.

In to-day's society big government, big unions and big business wage a constant struggle for power and the Big Three have grown to a point where they now dominate the lives of all individuals.

There is a large proportion of small businessmen, and farmers who are in danger of completely losing their voice in public affairs. They are many in number but they wield practically no power. This is not a healthy situation for a democratic society and more representation of this group is needed in Ottawa.

Mr. Caston has been 33 years in the newspaper business, learning the trade as a young boy. As far as we are aware he is the first M.P. from the ranks of the Alberta weeklies. During his service with the RCAF in World War II he was one of a unit sent to Oxford University for a course in British common and military law, and following the war he served on the Canadian war crimes tribunal at Aurich, Germany.

A fourth generation Canadian, his great grandfather came to Canada from the USA and served under General Brock before settling on a farm in the Ontario bush country. Mr. Caston's father moved west as a young man and Doug was born and raised in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

He married the former Vi Watmough of Edson and has made his home there since 1936. Mr. and Mrs. Caston have a family of seven, one son and three daughters married and two sons and one daughter at home.

Early Socialization

Not left-wing politics, this but an attempt to see how the three-year-old can be helped establish and expand his relationships.

From the 'terrible twos' we get 'trusting threes', says one paediatrician. 'A delightful age' says another. Like the adolescent, the three-year-old is subject to rapid changes of mood. The peak of negativism has passed. There is certainly resistance but he is usually an understanding child who is co-operative if wisely managed and anxious to please. He continues to get into trouble but has learned a lot from wise discipline and meddles less in things he should not touch. He will now join in play with other children instead of playing apart from them.

In this question of social adaptation we are very much at the mercy of the earlier years. A child develops loyalties only to those he finds he can trust and he has to conclude a positive or negative "trust rating" for or against every person with whom he comes into contact from the moment he enters the world.

Mother is the first person with whom he relates and his first "trust rating" must be favourable because she feeds him when he is hungry, changes him when he is uncomfortable and nurses him when he is in pain. If his early childhood experiences do not sustain this trust then his experiences with people become rejecting and painful and he develops loyalty only to himself. In the early years this will show as a coldness and independent refusal to show either pleasure or anger; later, it prevents him making friends and eventually melts into the resistive sulking of adolescence with overt anti-social behaviour.

Up till three, close relationships have been confined to members of the family. But then personal horizons widen and the excessive demands of three-year-olds ensure that they will be played with and befriended. Their needs are therefore space, stability of environment, predictability of relationships and continuation of care.

It is one possible criticism of the play-group system that children may be cared for by a succession of different people, with each of whom they strive to make attachments. Means of getting round this problem have to be found.

The Secretary-Treasurer introduced the Returning Officer's Report as amended and informed it that G. P. Moore, returning officer for the 1967 elections was present in the council chambers. Councillor Gibbon asked Mr. Moore why boxes 3, 11 and 16 were checked. Mr. Moore replied that as one of the candidates for school trustee had not been satisfied of the results he had opened these boxes as they held rejected ballots pertaining to the election of trustees. Mr. Moore stated that in his opinion it would be a good idea for the candidates during an election to get together and appoint scrutineers to assist the deputy returning officers and poll clerks in their duties, therefore there would be less chance of error. Council stated that there should perhaps be a training program set up for the deputy returning officers and poll clerks and that this should also include practice sessions. It was Mr. Moore's opinion that sufficient information had been provided and that questions should have been asked if anyone had remained confused on the issue.

Mr. Goff was present to appeal the charge of $11.92 which was the cost of the damage to his water meter when the pressure relief valve on his hot water tank failed to function properly. The town engineer, Mr. Maandag, stated that he did not feel that the town was liable in such cases, as basically the fault lies with the hot water tank and that the town might be setting a dangerous precedent. It was council's contention, however that the town should pay this charge and the general public should be warned about this possible danger and after the warning has been issued the ratepayers would thereafter be liable for such repairs.

Report from the Workmen's Compensation Board: Mr. Fleming informed council that he had received a report from the workmen's compensation board which indicated that an enumerator employed by the town had suffered injuries which has resulted in 196 lost days and some $2,500 in damages. This accident was the main cause of the town's merit rebate being reduced to 2% for 1966.

Mr. Fleming advised council that Mr. Voyer was still attempting to locate a vacant lot for his temporary warehouse but so far he had been unable to secure a lot from a private individual.

This was tabled until Nov. 13 meeting.

Walker and Newby Ltd. - Forestlawn Replot and Edmonton regional planning commission - Forestlawn Replot.

As these two items are related council considered both at the same time. Mr. Fleming stated that a letter from Mr. Walker was in his possession which substantiated the financial agreements. That is there would be no change in the cost of the replot providing there is no substantial delay. Mr. Woodroffe advised that as per his letter of Oct. 26 it should be pointed out that the separate school board are receiving back some 11.63 acres, our calculations show that they presently own in Block 4 and B approximately 11.6 acres.

Council will meet with Mr. Walker and the chairman of the separate school board and iron out the Forestlawn Replot.

By-law 34/67 being an amending by-law to amend the interest rate on the sewer lagoon was introduced for second and third readings and passed.

The Accounts payable for the month of September, in the amounts of $58,048.83 for general, $71,998.79 for capital and $1,441.85 for welfare were approved.

The Mayor and Staff will arrange a meeting with the minister of municipal affairs to discuss the control of the local authorities board over the town and the difficulties of setting an early mill rate.

Mr. de Bruijn directed the attention of the mayor and council to the report from the policy handbook revision committee and stated that in his opinion this should be brought before a committee of the whole meeting and appropriate action taken at that time. This will be done.

Mr. de Bruijn inquired as to whether or not the staff had received any information about the possibility of tapping the aquifer as a water source for the town. Mr. Maandag stated that a report had been issued by the Alberta research council, ground water division and that when he has received a copy it will be circulated for council's information.

Councillor Gibbon stated that he was concerned with the possible lack of information being given to the deputy returning officers and poll clerks and that he had been informed that the training was insufficient. He also stated that he intended to obtain an interpretation from the attorney general's office regarding the swearing in process of voters at the polls. Mayor Fowler advised that this training program is in the hands of the returning officer hired by the town and that as such it would be improper for the town to investigate his methods. Council were informed that a manual is provided to the D.R.O.'s and poll clerks with the correct procedure therein. Councillor Bakker stated that perhaps a test should be issued to the prospective D.R.O.'s and poll clerks which they would have to pass before being employed in their respective positions.

A recommendation that a training course for D.R.O.'s and poll clerks of a one-half day or two one-half days duration was defeated.

The residents will be advised through the Gazette that the highway and traffic act pertaining to littering, with the accompanying fine of up to $100 maximum, also

NABA Officers

Kon Hayer, was returned as President of the Northern Alberta Baseball Association at its annual meeting Nov. 5.

He was elected by acclamation for his second term. Mr. Hayer also President of the Oilfield Baseball League and the Alberta representative for Little Canadian Baseball.

The three vice-presidents posts were contested, with the successful candidates being: Verne Miller, of Vermilion, first vice-president; Les Harnstedt, second vice-president and Elmer Scheldt third vice-president. Fred Skakum, treasurer and registrar, and Mike Gavinchuk, secretary. Latter four from Edmonton.

Joe Goshko, of Vegreville was appointed the NABA's director to the Alberta Baseball Association, and Jim Wasalasko, Edmonton, was named as director-at-large.

Harvey Doherty, of Westlock, was re-appointed as Commissioner of Baseball for Northern Alberta.

Mr. Hayer, in his annual report, noted that the number of teams affiliated with the NABA last season jumped by 30 per cent over the corresponding mark for 1966.

"Anyone who says baseball is dying in Northern Alberta is talking through his hat," he said. "And the future is going to be brighter. For one thing, increased grants to cover travelling expenses in play-offs will encourage more teams to join organized ball."

applies within the town limits of St. Albert.

There will be a full review of staff benefits.

Councillor Gibbon will be assigned to the finance committee for this review and that the finance committee will report to a committee of the whole meeting.

Mr. Gibbon enquired if the report on the swimming pool had been completed as yet. Mr. Gale, stated that it had been drafted in French and an English transcription would be available in the near future.

Mr. Bakker asked Mayor Fowler if he cared to make the appointments to the court of revisions and the library board at this time. Mayor Fowler stated that this would be dealt with at the next regular meeting of council.

The number of councillors voting for and against any given resolution will in future be recorded.

Mention was made at this time of the fact that possibly Jasper Auto Parts are selling used cars. Mention was also made of the fact that there are some trailers parked near the B.A. service station. Staff will investigate and report.

A report as to whether or not it would be feasible to read the water meters every two months should be submitted to the public works committee meeting.

Necessary steps be taken to have a loading zone established at the club house and the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Marilyn Hemsing, district home economist for Sturgeon Municipal District is seen with Mrs. J. M. Venn, Mrs. F. Bokenfohr, Mrs. A. Henry of St. Albert; Mrs. O. Community Pastures for Keg River

A $99,000 community pasture has been approved for Keg River Metis Colony, funded under the ARDA program. This joint federal-provincial undertaking was announced today by Alberta Agriculture Minister H. E. Strom, and Federal Forestry and Rural Development Minister Maurice Sauve.

The new 3,550 acre community pasture will be located approximately 110 miles north of Peace River and 10 miles west of Highway 35.

The area selected for pasture development has been broken into three blocks, with Blocks 1 and 11 being cross-fenced. When completed, this arrangement will allow a rotational grazing system to be employed which will permit steers, breeding stock and non-breeding stock to be run separately.

Have you ever wondered...

... where Alberta students can learn the "art" of hospitality?

During the summers, hundreds of Alberta students obtain employment in city stores, resort hotels, gas stations, golf courses, areas where they are bound to meet and serve the province's visitors. To prepare these young people for their responsibilities as representatives of the province to the tourist, a training-in-tourism course is sponsored each year by the Alberta Department of Youth. The Alberta School of Tourism provides a short course to help students improve their employability, increase their knowledge of the tourist industry and Alberta, and to aid them in promoting Alberta as a tourist area. Courses are offered in hospitality, professional ethics, tourism in Canada and public relations. Many a tourist from another province or another country has returned home highly impressed by the young Albertans who wear the pin which identifies graduates of the School of Tourism.

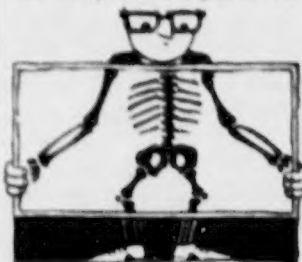

... how the Alberta farmer keeps up-to-date on modern agricultural techniques?

There are many links in the communication chain extending from the agricultural research laboratory, where new ideas are developed, to the working farmer, who puts them to practical use. One of the most important is the District Agriculturist. A respected member of the community he serves, the D.A. is a professional consultant whose years of training and experience are backed by the facilities of the University, the Canada Department of Agriculture and the Extension Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. He is an adviser not only on the techniques of more efficient farm production but also on the management of the farm as a family business. The D.A.'s office is a distribution center for information on newly-developed farming methods which are passed along to the farmer by means of personal contact, demonstration, short courses and clinics. Alberta farmers know that, if they need professional advice or assistance, it is no farther away than the office of the nearest D.A.

... what are the most important weapons in Alberta's war against tuberculosis?

The incidence of TB in our province is being controlled through early detection, adequate treatment and continuing contact, the three main functions of the Tuberculosis Division of the Alberta Department of Health. Early discovery of the disease is obtained through reports from family doctors, testing in schools and hospitals, and from two mobile X-ray units. Purchased by the Alberta TB Association and operated by the TB Division, these units provide a screening program throughout the province. If the X-rays show signs of TB or related diseases, further tests are made. Adequate treatment is given without charge to those suffering from the disease at the two provincial sanatoria. Patients are kept only as long as isolation is required, an average of five and a half months, then are returned home and continue their treatment as outpatients at the sanatoria or one of the 16 clinics at various locations in Alberta. A Central TB Registry fulfills the final function by keeping the Tuberculosis Division in contact with former patients to ensure they are continuing treatment if required.

... how the girls of Alberta are being taught to appreciate the great outdoors?

Any Alberta girl between the ages of 10 and 16 is eligible to learn forest conservation and wilderness survival as a member of the Girl Forest Guards. Similar in aims to the Junior Forest Warden Association; the Guards have now been transferred from the Department of Lands and Forests, to the Department of Youth. Presently there are five such clubs in the province with a total of 65 members. Under the leadership of local volunteers, the girls study the theory of conservation and resource management throughout the winter; undertake local beautification projects in the spring with tree, shrub and flower planting; and swing into even more practical instruction at a five-day camp during the summer. Attendance at the camp is an award for high achievement in the club. All expenses, with the exception of a $5 registration fee, are paid for by the Department of Youth, and resource people from the government act as lecturers and instructors. Forest biology, bush survival, use of map and compass, and fire fighting are a few of the subjects taught.

... what steps are being taken to assure a proper education for Alberta's blind children?

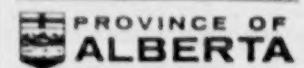

Although Alberta itself has no school for the blind, the province's blind children are assured of a complete education by the Special Educational Services of the Alberta Department of Education. Arrangements are made for those children applying to attend the Jericho Hill School for the Blind and Deaf, in Vancouver, or the Ontario School for the Blind in Brantford. Room, board, and tuition are all paid, and the children receive escorted transportation to school and home at the beginning and end of the term, and for the Christmas holidays. Where academic ability and personality make it possible, blind students are being removed from the special classes and enrolled in their own local schools, making it possible for them to live at home. Special teaching materials such as tape recordings and textbooks transcribed into Braille are provided by the Branch, which also assists teachers to assess the capabilities of their sightless students. In addition to aiding the blind gain an education, the Special Educational Services Branch also supervises and finances classes for the hard of hearing, those who have suffered partial loss of sight, and for all handicapped children in the province.

... what is the most important step in the development of Alberta's natural resources?

The most important is that long, long step that joins the actual location of the resources with the areas in which they can be put to the best use. A natural resource is not an asset until it is developed and transportation is a vital aspect of this development. Formerly inaccessible areas of Alberta, rich in such resources as coking coal, gypsum, pulpwood, petroleum, natural gas and sulphur, are now being opened up by the construction of the Alberta Resources Railway. Being built by the Canadian National Railway and financed by the Alberta Resources Railway Corporation, a crown corporation of the province, the A.R.R. joins Solomon on the south with Grande Prairie on the north. The southern link with the C.N.R. mainline provides access not only to inland markets of Canada and the United States, but also to overseas markets through the west coast ports of Prince Rupert and Vancouver. The northern terminus at Grande Prairie will bring the rich agricultural area of the Peace River District 400 miles closer to west coast ports. Once complete, the A.R.R. will be leased and operated by the C.N.R. who may purchase the line at their option.

Edmonton public stockyards

Period - Oct. 27 - Nov. 2 (Fri.-Thurs. Inclusive)

Receipts	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
This Week:	7921	6300	3517	1943
Last Week:	8883	7575	2512	903
Last Year:	8666	6020	2416	1050

Summary: This week's receipts of 14,221 cattle and calves were down by 2,200 compared to last week. This may indicate that the peak of the heavy fall run was reached last week when a total of 16,458 head of cattle and calves were delivered to the Edmonton Public Stockyards - an all time weekly record. Cattle and calf receipts for the month of October totalled 63,826 head which surpassed any previous fall month by over 4,000 head. This week's trade at the Edmonton Stockyards lacked the usual fire mainly on account of the condition of the cattle on offer and a prevailing easier undertone on all slaughter classes. Strictly choice butcher steers and heifers were relatively scarce throughout. Choice steers were moving about 50¢ lower with not too much change on the in-between grades. Butcher heifers sold slightly easier as buyers were more selective as to condition. All grades of butcher cows were under pressure early in the week and sold 50¢ lower, but good kinds were selling firmer as the week closed with the odd sale to 16.00 for good conditioned dry fed kinds. Bulls were barely steady closing with the odd sale over 17.50. Veal scarce and heavy butcher calves which were in good supply traded 50¢ lower. Practically all classes of replacement steers and plainer quality replacement heifers were 50¢ to $1.00 lower throughout. The bulk of stock steer calves were about $1.00 lower as the week advanced, but the odd good package were topping 31.00. Good stock heifer calves were generally steady. Hogs and lambs lower for the week. Slaughter Cattle (Closing Prices) Choice steers 27.00 to 27.50, Good 26 to 27, Medium 24 to 25. Choice heifers 25.00 to 25.50, Good 24 to 25, Medium 22.50 to 23.50, Good cows 15.00 to 15.75, odd sale higher, Medium 13.00 to 14.

Feeder Cattle Good stock steers (550-700) 25.00 to 26.50, Good feeder steers (700 lbs. & up) 24.00 to 26.00, Common to medium 17.00 to 23.00, Stock Cows 13.00 to 17.00, Good stock and feeder heifers 22.00 to 23.50, Common to medium 16.00 to 21.00. Calves Good to choice light veal 23 to 25, Good to choice butcher calves 22.00 to 23.50, Good stock steer calves 26.00 to 30.00, Common to medium 20.00 to 25.00, Good stock heifer calves 22.00 to 24.00, Common to medium 17.00 to 21.00. Hogs, Grade "A" Hogs opened 40¢ lower Monday at 25.50 Dr. Wt., sold steady Tuesday and Wed. and were 50¢ lower Thursday at 25.00 Dr. Wt. There were insufficient sows on offer to establish quotations. Boars 7.00/cwt, 1250 feeder hogs were under pressure at lower prices. Heavier feeders ranged from 17.00 to 22.00/cwt, in Thursday's sale while a few weaners and light feeders sold from 7.00 to 12.00 each. Lambs

100th Birthday Gift A Silver Tray

Keith Everitt, MLA for St. Albert constituency, representing the provincial government, holds silver tray that he presented to Milton Gowin on his 100th birthday. Mr. Gowin is seated. Other birthday party guests are seen in the picture.

On his 100th birthday Milton J. Gowin received a silver tray presented to him by the provincial government as part of their Centennial celebration.

The presentation was made at the home of his oldest son E. A. Gowin, R.R. 6, Edmonton.

Jack Hanna, representing the provincial centennial committee, spoke on the pleasures he receives at being able to participate in Centennial projects that include people. He said how wonderful it was to have attained this age and following his sincere congratulations introduced Keith Everitt, MLA for St. Albert.

Mr. Everitt spoke on the contributions made to the province by citizens who have reached this age group. He said the twilight years are often the best years and wished Mr. Gowin many more happy years.

He then presented him with a large silver tray. Inscribed on the tray are the words, "Presented by the Government of the Province of Alberta to honour Milton J. Gowin, a resident of Edmonton who was born in Wisconsin, U.S.A. in 1867 and as a citizen of the Province of Alberta attained the age of 100 years in 1967 the one hundredth anniversary of Confederation in Canada.

Between 35 to 40 persons attended the celebration including two sons, E. A. and V. R. Gowin of Prescott, Arizona and a daughter, Mrs. B. C. Marsh of Vancouver, Washington. R. A. Gowin of Creston City, California was unable to attend but had been home to visit his father during the summer. A. M. Gowin was with the United States troops during the last war and was killed in the invasion of Normandy.

Mr. Gowin received greetings from many friends and relatives. One of his nine grandchildren sent a telegram from Portland which arrived while the party was in progress. He has 19 great grandchildren.

Mr. Gowin moved with his family to Minnesota while still a baby. Here he married and his oldest son E. A. Gowin was born. These three moved to Canada in 1902 where three more sons and a daughter were born.

The family first went to Poplar Lake, three years later taking up residence on a farm in the Horse Hills

Mrs. K. Maslyk CWL Guest

A pleasant and welcome surprise was in store for the members of the St. Emile C.W.L. on Oct. 16, when Mrs. Karl Maslyk, the St. Paul diocesan president, attended their meeting.

She had been to Montreal to the Annual National Convention of the C.W.L. and she spoke on the tremendous experience she had had and gave an interesting account of the convention, "highlights".

Following this a discussion was held on the constitution and by-laws of the C.W.L. Mrs. Maslyk pointed out the social importance and responsibilities of its members. She also read a poem, "Are you an Active Member?" which was well worth pondering.

Another honored guest was Father Morin who acted as spiritual advisor in the absence of Father Ricard.

Turkey Supper

On Nov. 5 some 500 suppers were served at the Legal annual Turkey supper. After completing their meal the people went upstairs for games and live entertainment.

The main interest for the kiddies was the favorite fishpond. The evening ended with a cash bingo. The lucky winners were: Father Ricard, Richard Cornelis, Roy Hills, Richard Clouthier, Alex Frank, Lucien Cyr, Wilfred Lecavaller, Victor Douzleck, Mrs. Wilfred Lecavaller, Mrs. Leo Regimbald, Mrs. Clouthier, John Cornelis and Michel Prefontaine.

The organizing committee would like to thank everyone from Legal and the surrounding districts who attended the supper and bingo, also everyone who contributed their time in anyway to make that evening such a success.

upon Mrs. Hemsing to speak to the audience. She spoke on the rights and responsibilities of the members, leaders, and parents involved in the 4-H movement. She also told us of the many award trips and prizes that a hard working 4-Her can win. This proved to be very interesting as some of us were unaware of many of the things she mentioned.

Next on the agenda was the elections for the new executive committee. Our new officers are Margaret Elliott, president; Cindy Allison, vice-president; Linda Lamoureux, secretary; Sharon Visscher, treasurer; Barbara Paradis, club reporter; Susie Allison, lunch committee; and Edith Paradis and Norma Stirton as entertainment committee. Jackie Blom now holds the position of supplies chairman.

Eleven members have joined the club this year: Sharon Visscher, now in her fifth year of membership; Margaret Elliott and Barbara Paradis, fourth year members; Linda Lamoureux, Edith Paradis, Cindy Allison, Lorette Theroux, and Norma Stirton in their third year; and Marilyn Sharun who is in her second year. First year members: Susie Allison and Jackie Blom.

The club would like to welcome the first year members. Also any other young people interested in the club who will be twelve years of age before Jan. 1, 1968, are welcome to join.

Cool Spoolers

by Janis Pelletier

On Oct. 30 in the Parish Centre, 13 4-H members attended the second social meeting of the Cool Spoolers Clothing Club.

Guests were Mrs. Albert Verbeek, visitor, and Mrs. Gerard Borle, guest speaker. Her informative talk clarified many of the members' queries concerning "What you will be judged on at the end of the year."

Previously, at an executive meeting on Oct. 23, the year's program had been made. It will be presented at our next meeting (Nov. 13) for acceptance.

A motion was passed to adjourn all meetings after the recreation, but before lunch. It was also moved that we say grace before lunch.

Business concluded everyone participated in a medley of songs.

Hostesses Connie Wojtkiw and Yvonne Labonte served a delicious lunch after the meeting was adjourned.

The next meeting, the first "work" meeting of the season, will be held on Nov. 13 in the Parish Centre. All club members' mothers are invited to attend any of the Cool Spoolers' meetings.

HUNTING SEASON

30 the new season will allow hunters into the area on Nov. 13 and hunt until Dec. 3.

This extension is an effort to compensate for the season missed in September as a result of the various forest closures due to high fire hazards at that time.

Keeping Flowers From Freezing

A Calgary horticulturist has found a way to beat the early autumn frost which destroys millions of flowers in Calgary even before they have reached their prime.

Stan Foss, 1912 Tecumseh Road S.W., used four natural gas torches to warm the air over his flower beds, thus extending the life of the flowers as much as three weeks after the first frost. Heat from the torches creates a turbulent effect and the moving air prevents frost from reaching the plants. Total area protected with the four torches is 36 feet square.

The garden frost shield resulted from the thoughts of two people, who, unknown to each other, were thinking along the same line. When they finally got together, Doug French, appliance salesman with a natural gas company, provided the know-how and Mr. Foss provided the garden.

In 1966, two gas torches were located in a dahlia bed before the first frost arrived in Mr. Foss' garden. Everyone who grows dahlias knows that the mere mention of frost will turn these delicate plants black but the experiment was an instant success. An area about 18 feet in diameter around each torch was protected while the surrounding plants turned brown and the grass white with frost.

This year Mr. Foss increased the protection by installing two more torches. While Jack Frost has destroyed most of the flowers in Calgary, the Foss family has enjoyed the beauty of the dahlias for several extra weeks.

"There is another reason for prolonging the life of the dahlia," says Mr. Foss. "Dahlias need as much time as possible to store energy in their tubers. This gives the plant a better chance to survive winter storage and ensures a healthier plant in the spring."

Do Flying Saucers Exist ? ?

A group of top Canadian scientists have decided to try to find out whether flying saucers exist.

Dr. G. N. Patterson, director of the University of Toronto's Aerospace Institute, headed a seminar of colleagues at which it was decided to conduct an independent probe of "sightings" of UFO's -- unidentified flying objects -- over Canada.

"It's time to look into the whole question of whether technical and other available information on Canadian UFO sightings is being properly collated and assessed," said Dr. Patterson.

"If it's not being done, there's a chance we would do it in co-operation with the U.S. government, in which case we'd hope to interest the Canadian government in it too."

The November Maclean's magazine reports that 1967 has been a bumper year for strictly Canadian flying saucers. They've been reported all across the country, and significantly one was seen hovering over Montreal two days after Expo opened.

British Columbians report more Flying Saucers than anyone else, and between January and July 23 sightings were listed with provincial police. A Dude ranch operator in lonely Cariboo Country even saw a squadron of them over a period of five nights. "They had blinking red lights and shifted and bobbed and weaved in the sky," he said.

Canadian officialdom has never taken flying saucers very seriously. Reported sightings filter through to the Canadian Forces operations centre, where officers admit that no one takes them very seriously.

Now, however, a scientific attempt is being made to find out whether there is something up there watching us.

Really Big Business

Today's typical new supermarket unit averages $40,400 a week in sales, 20,800 square feet in total area and 13,300 square feet in selling area, has two nearby competitors, costs about $250,000 to build, requires an investment of more than $500,000 and observes long store hours to serve customers. These facts are revealed in the 14th annual industry study, "Facts About New Super Markets", published by the Super Market Institute.

The question now is how many hours Edmonton supermarkets will be allowed to stay open.

If you wish to be loved, show more of your faults, than your virtues. -

Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial minister of municipal affairs, presents James Henry McConnell with a silver tray to honor him on acquiring the age of 101 in Canada's Centennial Year. Assisting Mr. Hooke is Alberta's Centennial committee representative, Jack Hanna, Dr. Grant MacEwan, governor general of Alberta is framed in the centre of the picture. Mr. McConnell was born in 1866 in Ripley, Ont. and came to Alberta in 1892. The presentation was part of the dedication ceremony held at the parliament buildings marking the anniversary of Alberta joining Confederation on Sept. 1, 1905. There are 39 centenarians registered with the provincial government who are citizens of Alberta. There may be more. The oldest is Western Ostrander who is going for 107 years having been born on Feb. 7, 1861. One of his granddaughters is married to Jack Horner, MP for Acadia.

Medical Education Never Ends

The training of a doctor starts the day he enters university in a three or four year course of pre-medical education. It ends when he retires from practice, some 40 or 50 years later. The Canadian Medical Association reports.

After the pre-medical course, which emphasizes science but includes a wide range of other subjects of the student's choice, comes four years as a medical student. In medical school the doctor-to-be learns the wonders of the human body, how to preserve it in good health, what ills afflict it, how to relieve them and, most important of all, how to prevent them.

The day of graduation signals the birth of another new doctor. But the M.D. degree doesn't mean the end of school; it's merely the first plateau of the mountain of knowledge the doctor must climb in a lifetime as a student.

After a year's internship in a hospital, the doctor is ready to go out into practice. Some choose instead to spend another four or five years in training to specialize. Others go into teaching medical students, doing medical research or working in administrative posts requiring medical knowledge.

Whatever path the young graduate chooses, he knows that with medical knowledge doubling every 10 years, he will have to work hard and constantly to keep up to date. Throughout his entire professional life he will have to read medical journals and attend courses of continuing education in order to keep abreast of new developments in prevention, diagnosis, treatment, and management of disease.

The C.M.A. says, as scholarly way of life for its doctors is Canada's best assurance of quality medical care.

Good humour is one of the best articles of dress one can wear in society.

TRAIN GAME HELPS

Analyze Marriage Problems

How can you keep marriages on the rails? By using a toy train set, says The Medical Post.

Two simple loops of track toy trains and electronic monitoring gear are enthusiastically endorsed by New York psychiatrist Dr. Robert A. Ravich, who names his device the Interpersonal Behavior Game Test (IBGT). Demonstrating the IBGT to the American Academy of General Practice, convened in Dallas, Dr. Ravich, who is director of the family therapy service at Beth Israel Medical Centre, said that when a couple have made 20 journeys from one end of the track to another, a certain pattern of behavior can be seen. The husband and wife can each steer their own train on a direct or indirect route from one end of its track to another.

On the direct route simulated collisions and obstructions can cause stoppages. It is how these are resolved by the two parties -- who can talk freely -- that gives clues to basic relationships. And when these are explained to the patients several days after the game, many people can see very quickly where they may be erring, says Dr. Ravich.

As the game quickly pinpoints the couple's present unsuccessful method of solving marital conflicts, it is possible to teach alternative ways they have not been aware of, or unable to use, he says.

Later Dr. Ravich admitted to The Medical Post reporter at the Dallas meeting that he had competed against his wife. "But really, it did not show much ... we are much too adept at it not to be caught out," he said, smiling somewhat wily.

Culture... but it Takes Money

Canadians are coming out of this Centennial and Expo year with a new and lively appreciation of the arts. The Financial Post comments. Special efforts by organizations, foundations and individuals involved in theatre and music have provided Canada with a lavish feast of sounds and sights. This wetting of appetites and demonstration of what can be done needs to be brought to some fruition. That, The Financial Post points out, will take money.

The Toronto Symphony Orchestra's current appeal for $327,000 is a good yard stick of the need. Centennial grants, which did much to spark national interest, will be a thing of the past. But aid from such bodies as the Canada Council and treasuries of the larger municipalities and foundations will likely continue.

Gallstones

Gallstones are stones which are formed from the bile salts in the gallbladder. Bile is formed in the liver and stored in the gallbladder. It passes from there by way of a tube called the common duct into the intestine, where it aids in the digestion of food. The gallbladder is only a storage sac for bile, and when it is removed, the bile simply flows directly from the liver into the intestines.

The Canadian Medical Association advised that the patient who complains of abdominal pain and indigestion after meals may have gallstones. They are usually detected by x-ray.

Gallstones may be present without causing any symptoms, but more commonly they cause inflammation in the gallbladder. The patient complains of pain and indigestion after meals. If one of the stones escapes into the common duct between the gallbladder and the intestine it causes very extreme pain. If the stone becomes stuck in the tube, it will block the flow of bile and the patient becomes jaundiced.

Cancer of the gallbladder although not common, is more likely to occur when gallstones are present, the C.M.A. reports.

There won't be enough - if past experience is any guide.

It is urgent, The Financial Post says, that more Canadian companies and more individuals should now look at Canadian music, art and drama with a new sense of appreciation, a new sense of involvement and a new disposition to be more involved financially. After all, people get what they pay for. This year stages and auditoriums show what money can buy.

Healing Substance In Preparation H Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

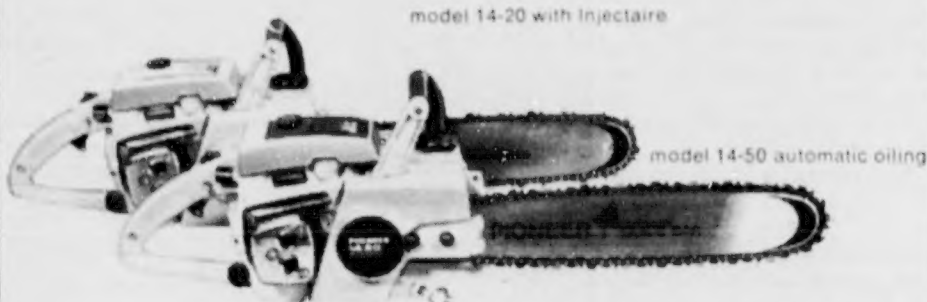

Most important of all--results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores--satisfaction or your money refunded.

The main manufacturing plant of Polymer Corporation Limited, located on some 350 acres on the bank of the St. Clair River, at Sarnia, Ontario, this plant produces more different types of synthetic rubber than any other in the world.

True Animal Tales

by Wm. Grastuk,
Thorsby, Alta.

Several years ago on a highway near Banff, a mother bear and her three cubs were standing in the middle of the road. Many cars pulled out on the edge, stopped and the occupants threw tidbits to the mother and the cubs.

Suddenly a car came round the corner, and without slackening speed came straight at the bears. The mother and the two of the cubs managed to avoid it, but the third cub was instantly killed.

The mother felt sorrow for its young. She put her arms about the poor, dead cub, crying and whining, and licking its bruised body. Then taking it up as a cat would a kitten, she carried it off into the woods, dejection and sorrow in every line. Her emotions were akin to that of every human mother.

Synthetic Rubber

Expo '67 and the Polymer Pavilion have closed. Widely acclaimed as a "jewel among giants" this little pavilion was certain to intrigue all for its theme was curiosity. For a long time before Expo opened, Polymer scientists developed their ideas for working displays that would capture the imagination. The fact that as many as 6,000 people visited the pavilion in an hour testifies to the success of their efforts.

Polymer Corporation established in 1942 shortly after the beginning of World War II, was planned as an emergency operation to fill a critical need for rubber. At the end of World War II, it was faced with many problems in common with those of other industries which had been producing war materials. Polymer's problem was in fact one of survival.

The Sarnia, Ontario plant now one of the largest of its kind in the world, had by 1945 reached a production capacity of 45,000 tons per year. Synthetic rubber was invaluable as a substitute for natural rubber. Natural at that time however, was still thought to be a superior material in many applications, and following the war again became readily available. The synthetic rubber market in Canada could only absorb 20,000 tons per year, less than half the economic level required to maintain the Sarnia plant. The United States market, with more than sufficient production capacity of its own, was unavailable.

Far-sighted belief in the future of the synthetic rubber industry and a determination on the part of Polymer's top management, turned the tide. The dedicated men who are still at Polymer's helm represented the team which successfully brought the plant to production and directed its operation throughout that second world war.

Europe was destitute of raw materials and needed almost everything to get its industries and its people going again. Polymer offered one solution to these countries in its synthetic rubber exports.

Establishing a policy of moderation and stability in price levels, and of selling in Europe through Europeans, Polymer's marketing team embarked on a program to educate the European market in the uses of synthetic rubber. At the same time, Polymer Corporation's Research and Development Division set about improving the manufacturing processes and product quality as well as investigating and adding many new types and grades of rubber to the product line.

In a few years these marketing efforts began to show results. Polymer gained a head start in the synthetic rubber market and soaring prices for natural rubber, caused by the Korean War, added further strength and consolidated Polymer's export position.

In the early sixties, Polysar International, a wholly owned marketing subsidiary was established in Fribourg, Switzerland, to market the corporation's products throughout the world under the trade mark, POLYSAR - a contraction of Polymer and Sarnia. This organization, now known as PISA, has continued to develop this international marketing system providing close ties with both customers and distributors as well as supplying technical service in all export market areas. It has offices in Croydon, England, Tokyo, Japan; Mexico City, Mexico; and Vienna, Austria working with official distributors in over sixty countries.

More than 80 grades of a variety of synthetic rubber, latex and plastic resins are now included in Polymer's product line. Items fabricated from these raw materials make important contributions to the world's growing needs in such fields as transportation, construction, conservation, medicine and leisure activities.
